

A WONDERFUL CAMPAIGN POSSIBILITY UNFOLDS ITSELF TO ALLIED NATIONS

ALONE and friendless, abandoned by the last ally, Germany now faces the bitter prospect of surrender or of being attacked from the east and south as well as west by constantly increasing allied troops.

The surrender of Turkey is a momentous event in its possibilities. That of Austria-Hungary, announced Sunday, will be even more important as opening up opportunities for enlarged warfare against Germany.

The armistice with Turkey provides, among many other things, for the opening of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus. That means that within a month allied ships will be passing through into the Black sea and campaigning up the Danube. The allies planned that move in 1915. Failure to wrest the Dardanelles from its powerful and hard fighting Turco-German defenders forced the abandonment of the campaign.

The Danube is navigable for light warships clear up to the back door of Germany, and permits the speedy liberation of brave little Rumania. That of itself will be highly important. Partly for the sake of the queen of Rumania, who never, in the darkest hours of Hun domination, has ceased hating and denouncing openly the enemies of the allies, the latter are extremely anxious to restore Rumania to its rightful owners. The so-called peace treaty between the central powers and Rumania, signed immediately after the Brest-Litovsk treaty between the central powers and Russia, left Rumania no real independence whatever.

Restoration of Rumania also means removal from Tenth possession of the great oil fields of that country and from Teutonic expropriation of the big harvests which have greatly aided Germany this year. Furthermore, it will cut Germany off from the direct route to the Black sea provinces of Russia, whence Germany has been obtaining frequent shipments of supplies.

Turkey having capitulated, the allied army of Asia Minor will soon become the army of the Danube, joining forces with the allied army operating in clearing up Serbia and Montenegro. It can complete the subjugation of Austria-Hungary, if necessary, but it can work more effectively if the armistice with Austria-Hungary is arranged so as to allow the free passage of allied troops to the German border. This border describes a huge letter "S." An army attacking from the east would drive against the upper half of the letter, probably aiming at Dresden, which lies about 40 miles beyond the Austrian border. The lower half of the letter would be attacked by the allied army driving up from Italy, with Munich, capital of Bavaria, as the first objective. Munich is 55 miles inside the German border and lies on a direct railroad line extending from the Italian frontier across a small corner of Austria and passing through Innsbruck and Rottenburg.

Such are the possibilities of attack opened up to the allies by reason of the surrender of Turkey and Austria-Hungary.

It is absolutely impossible for Germany to defend successfully the west front and this letter "S" at the same time.

The south and east frontiers which form the letter would make a line longer by half than the west front which Germany is now unable to hold intact, even with the utilization of nearly all available forces.

There are a certain number of German troops in Russia and Finland and some in Rumania and a handful with the Turkish army and possibly a few divisions with the Austro-Hungarians in Italy. All the rest are on the west front with the exception of small detachments, mostly ineffective, that are on duty in the interior of Germany. It is impossible for Germany to form a line of defense on the south and east without stripping the west front of divisions which cannot properly be spared.

This is the desperate situation which now faces the war lords of the Hun empire. The great war drama now approaches its climax.

Holland just had to take some action, otherwise there would have been more alien refugees than Dutch inhabitants in the country.

New Mexico Republicans have a strong ticket in the field for national, state and county offices and as for Arizona, Tom Campbell made a mighty good, sound governor in the 11 months he was in office. He was everybody's governor and played no favorites.

Buy Your Winter Shoes Today, But Be Sure Not To Pay More Than $12-$13 Is The Minimum Price

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—Go to your dealer today and buy shoes at the prices set by the government last month.

This advice was given today to the American people by C. P. C. Stout, chief of the division of hide, leather and leather goods of the war industries board, in a statement that the shelves of shoe stores are now well stocked with the new regulated price shoes.

The price scale set by the war industries board is divided into three classes, with the lowest minimum at $12 and the highest maximum at $13. The price of shoes in class one will vary from $9 to $12 and into this class will fall only 15 percent of the total output of shoes. Class two shoes will vary from $6 to $12.50. This class will include 44 percent of the output. Class three will include 41 percent of the output, and the prices will vary from $2 to $12.50.

P. M. Baruch, chairman of the war industries board, is determined that the regulations set by the board shall not be violated, and that there is to be no lowering of the quality or workmanship of the shoes because of the price limit.

Chairman Baruch has charged the duty of operating this price scale to the war service committee of the shoe manufacturers and shoe retailers.

On October 15 the cutting of all shoes beyond the price of $12 was restricted, except when continuing contracts require an extension of time to enable the manufacturer to fulfill his obligation. Special licenses for this had to be obtained from the war industries board.

Retailers were also granted time to sell their stock over $12.50. Because their orders had been placed and subsequently filled by the manufacturers, the war industries board has given the retailers until June 1, next, to dispose of their stock selling above the maximum of $12.50.

After this time all footwear must be sold at the regulation prices, however. Violations will result in the government cutting off of the quality of leather in the case of a manufacturer and cutting off of stocks from the manufacturer in the case of a retailer.

Mr. Stout calls attention to the fact that free purchases of shoes above the regulated price will not be allowed.

It is suggested that the horrors of the war have proved so much upon the mind of the German people that she has become insane.

Free Text Books

TEXAS voters must not forget, when they mark their ballots tomorrow, that there is a text book amendment to be voted upon. Otherwise they may overlook voting either for or against free text books for the children of Texas who attend public schools.

The ballot reads thus: "For the amendment to the constitution of the state of Texas providing for levy of a special school tax for the maintenance of the public schools of the state and to provide free text books in the public schools of the state of Texas." Following this is an identical paragraph except that it begins with the word "Against." To vote for the free text book amendment, the "against" paragraph should be marked out.

The free text book amendment will not fail of ratification unless through neglect of the voters. It has been met with very wide and favorable comment, indicating the approval of the people. It has been endorsed by the governor and many of the leading educators of the state. When it was submitted to the legislature last year it passed the house, 108 for and 22 against and the senate, 23 for and four against.

Gov. W. P. Hobby expressed his approval of it as follows: "Free text books will put education in the reach of every child in Texas. Adopting this amendment will give equal opportunity to each and all and assure to Texas a greater democracy at a time when the world is realizing that democracy is the only source of genuine happiness to the people." No stronger endorsement could be required.

That voters may understand exactly for what they are voting when they come to the amendment, it is necessary to set forth the change in the constitution which the amendment would make. In the present form that portion of the constitution reads:

"Sec. 3. One-fourth of the revenue derived from the state occupation taxes and a poll tax of $1 on every male inhabitant of this state between the ages of 21 and 60 years shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools, and in addition thereto there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem state tax of such an amount, not to exceed 20 cents on the $100 valuation, as with the available school fund arising from all other sources, will be sufficient to maintain and support the public free schools of this state for a period of not less than six months in each year, and the legislature may also provide for the formation of school districts by general or special law."

In its amended form the constitution would read:

"Sec. 3. One-fourth of the revenue derived from the state occupation taxes and a poll tax of $1 on every male inhabitant of this state between the ages of 21 and 60 years, shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools, and in addition thereto there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem state tax of such an amount, not to exceed 35 cents on the $100 valuation, as with the available school fund arising from all other sources, will be sufficient to maintain and support the public free schools of this state for a period of not less than six months in each year, and the legislature may also provide for the formation of school districts by general or special law."

It means an increase of 15 cents in the tax rate on each $100 of assessed valuation, that 15 cents being devoted to providing free text books. It's worth the increase.

Then He Will Talk Peace - By Hal Coffman

Little Interviews "Y" and Other Huts Require Tremendous Lumber Supplies Should Not Finger Fruit In Stores, Says Health Officer

MILLIONS of feet of lumber are used in the construction of buildings for the war relief work of the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Jewish Welfare board, the War Camp Community service, the American Library association, and the Salvation Army," said Fred Woodward.

The army "Y" alone has 215 "huts" in camps of the southern military department, which is composed of the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Arizona.

It has taken close on to 10,000,000 feet of lumber, 4500 doors, 12,000 windows. The roofs, if all in one piece, would cover 60 acres of ground.

"One hundred more buildings are planned by the army Y. M. C. A. to be erected in southwestern camps within the next six months, as the present number is not sufficient to give the required service."

In all there are 730 Y. M. C. A. "huts" either operating or in course of construction in this country. They cost nearly $1,000,000. Two thousand have been built overseas, including huts in England and France, and for our allies—the French and Italian armies.

Besides the "huts" of the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A. and the Salvation Army for the comfort and convenience of the soldiers, the Y. M. C. A. maintains "hostess houses" in the camps for the entertainment of friends and relatives while they are visiting the men in training.

"Plans for assembling at Atlantic City, Dec. 4, 5 and 6, all members of the country's more than 300 industrial war service committees for a great war emergency and reconstruction conference are announced by the war service executive committee of the United States," said Otto C. Cole.

The meeting will bring together from 2000 to 3000 industrial leaders to discuss problems that have arisen with the war. National councilors of the chamber, representing the more than 100 commercial and industrial organizations which comprise its membership will meet at the same time and place.

"The main purpose of the conference will be the determination of practical methods whereby industry may cooperate still more closely with the government through a more centralized scheme of organization. This probably can be accomplished best by the creation of a federation of all the war service committees. Questions of reconstruction, too, will be taken up."
